Rise in the Waters of Rivers

Kept Woodmen

Who Were Working in the Forests

Along the Brazos Valley from Getting to Place of Safety.

The Flood Conditions are Reported to be Growing Worse—Railroad Abandon Some of the Trains.

Dallas, Tex., July 31.—A report reached here from Hillsboro that between 400 and 500 men who were chopping wood in the bottom lands between Richland and Post Oak creeks have not been heard from since the heavy rains of last Saturday, and it is feared that some of them were drowned. An effort is being made to get into communication with the locality. The flood conditions in the Brazos valley continue to grow worse. The river is again rising about Waco and the crest of the flood was only a short distance below that point. The rains have damaged the cotton crop materially.

The long-continued rains have softened the railroad beds in many places where trouble has never been expected before. The International and Great Northern entering San Antonio from the east, is almost completely tied up, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road has abandoned that route for its fast trains. Lines in north Texas have also had trouble to contend with. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas is washed out between Dallas and Greenville and trains are being detoured via Farmersville. The water is over the track at Elmo, on the Texas and Pacific, east of Dallas.

No further communication was had with the wood choppers, cut off in the bottoms of Richland creek. Five lives were lost and hundreds of head of live stock drowned in the flood 40 miles southeast of Austin. Two of them were negroes living below Marlin jail on the Loeben plantation, and the other three lived near Upland, on Plum creek.

Five bridges in two counties are said to have been swept away. The storm in Plum creek struck the Missouri Kansas and Texas railroad with all its force, washing away nearly a mile of track.

Clouted by a Storm.

Winona, Minn., July 31.—The worst storm in the history of Winona struck this city Wednesday night. Almost a cloudburst lasted for half an hour, accompanied by a terrific wind. No loss of life is reported, but much damage to property occurred. The Bay State elevator and Central Methodist church were partially unroofed and the streetcar transfer office were blown into the middle of the street. The residence part of the city is in bad shape, many streets being completely blocked with fallen trees. Many telephone wires were blown down and outside communication with the city cut off. Roads are badly washed out, and there was much damage in surrounding grain fields.

Will Remain.

Pekin, July 31.—Wu Ting Fang has been ordered to remain in Washington indefinitely.

WASHOUT

In the Lone Star State Causes Damage.

Bridges and Tracks Swept Away—Sale of Tickets Discontinued.

Dallas, Texas, July 31.—The flood and railroad situation in Texas is worse than heretofore. Losses of tracks and bridges are reported from nearly every system in the state. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas has suffered heavily near Greenville, and the train service on the San Antonio division has been entirely abandoned from Smithville to San Antonio. Heavy washouts are reported on the San Antonio and Arkansas road, and the sale of tickets has been ordered discontinued until further orders.

FROM MISSOURI

Comes Echoes of Another New Political Party.

St. Louis Mo., July 31.—Followers of the Public Ownership party, the chief promotor of which is Lee Meriwether, the labor leader of this city, met in conference today to discuss plans for perfecting a thorough state organization and adopting a platform of principles. The new party is an off-shot of the Allied party, which was organized by Meriwether and others last year at Kansas City. It is purposed to interest in the movement all voters who believe in direct legislation and public ownership, and to carry out the principles of the Missouri State Federation of Labor.

New Army Post.

San Francisco, July 31.—The new army post to be constructed at Monterey will cost $125,000. The increase of troops stationed within this state has made barracks necessary. Owing to the excellent sanitary situation, the Monterey post will be used as a station for soldiers returning from hard service in the Philippines and for convalescents.

Railway Coup.

Chicago, July 31.—The Record-Herald says: The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad has been sold, and the purchaser is said to be the Illinois Central. Lyon, chairman of the state executive committee, the members of the committee met in Waco today to discuss the outlook for the party and to fix upon a date and place for holding the state convention. Waco, Dallas and several other cities are under consideration as a place for the convention.

Paris, July 31.—The two Americans named Clarke and Bennett, who were arrested at Spa, Belgium, last month, on a charge of complicity in swindling in Paris a New Yorker named Buchanan out of $40,000, and who were subjected to interrogation here last Thursday, were provisionally released by an examining magistrate, who deemed the evidence against them to be inconclusive.

MOB

Held the Town for Hours.

Troops Called

To Suppress Rioters at Shenandoah.

A Fierce Fight Between the Strikers and the Police.

In Which Over Forty Persons Were Badly Injured—Some will Die From Injuries They Received.

Shenandoah, Pa., July 31.—The Eighth and Twelfth regiments and the governor's troop of the National Guard of Pennsylvania are on duty here as a result of the rioting Wednesday night. The troops arrived at an early hour this morning and immediately pitched camp. The force is 1,500 strong, under command of General J. P. S. Gobin.

For hours Wednesday night the city was in the hands of an infuriated mob. The trouble started at 6 o'clock in the evening, when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddal attempted to escort two nonunion workers through the strikers' pickets. The workmen were dressed in their street clothes, but one of them carried a bundle under his arm, and this aroused the suspicion of the strikers. The bundle was torn from him, and when it was found to contain a blouse and overalls the man was taken from the deputy and beaten almost to death.

In the meantime Beddal opened fire on the mob, which had gathered by this time, and emptied his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, one man being shot in the leg and the other in the foot. The deputy and the other strike breaker were now compelled to fly for their lives, and took refuge in the Philadelphia and Reading railroad depot. The depot was soon surrounded by an which was becoming more threatening and demonstrative every moment. Joseph Beddal, a hardware merchant, and cousin of the deputy sheriff, was seen making his way through the crowd in an effort to reach his brother, and the mob, divining that he was carrying ammunition to those inside the depot, seized and beat him with clubs and billies into insensibility. He died en route to the miners' hospital. Shortly after the entire borough police force arrived on the scene and escorted the deputy sheriff and his man to an engine which had been backed into the depot for that purpose. When the mob realized that their prey was about to escape they surrounded the engine and the engineer was afraid to move. In a few moments, however a volley, dispersing the crowd for a brief period, and the engineer turned on full steam and got away with his men. Stones were thrown thick and fast about the heads of the police, whereupon Chief John Frye gave the order to fire. At the first volley the mob fell back, and several were seen to fall. Their retreat, however, was but momentary. They turned, and with revolvers, stones and even a few shotguns, they charged on the little band of policemen and made them fly for their lives. The policemen turned in their flight at short intervals and fired volley after volley at their pursuers, but the mob seemed thoroughly infuriated and smoking revolvers seemed to have

No Terrors For Them.

When the Lehigh railroad crossing was reached a passing freight train blocked the progress of the police, two of whom were caught and brutally beaten. One of them, Stiney Yacopsky, will die.

The doctors of the town dressed the wounds of nearly 40 strikers, all of whom were foreigners, whose names could not be ascertained. It is known that four of the six policemen were shot. Chief Fry received a slight wound in the hand; Yacopsky was shot in the neck and head and may die; Ringheiser was shot in the hand and back, not serious; Lauritius was shot in several places and can not recover.

It is estimated that upwards of 1,000 shots were fired, and the wonder is that more fatalities did not result.

The Governor Acts.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31.—Governor Stone ordered the Eighth and Twelfth regiments and the governor's troop of the National Guard of Pennsylvania in command of General J. P. S. Gobin, to proceed to Shenandoah, the scene of the rioting. General Gobin left here shortly after midnight in a special train with 1,500 men. The following message was received last evening from the sheriff at Shenandoah, Pa.: "Deputy sheriff and two assistants surrounded and one killed, three of mob shot by sheriff, three local police officers shot, one possibly fatally. Town is without police protection and local government terrorized; threatened by mob if they sign petition. Feeling running very high. Mine Workers admit foreign element beyond their control. Mob is beyond control. Situation requires greatest haste. Sheriff powerless for want of sufficient assistance."

Miners Held.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31.—Seven striking miners were held in $300 bail each for trial on the charge of threatening the lives of Charles Frank and family. The defendants, it is alleged, have frequently threatened bodily harm to Frank, who is employed as a pumpman in the mines at Lykens.

ANDY'S GIFT

Is Being Anticipated With Abundant Glee.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—The trustees of the proposed national university are looking forward with pleasure to receiving tomorrow the first installment of interest, amounting to $50,000, on Andrew Carnegie's endowment consisting of $10,000,000 of United States Steel Corporation bonds. Though no definite plans have as yet been announced it is probable that the money will be applied to the construction of an administration building and laboratory. These are the first buildings to be erected and will be added to as needed.

LIPTON'S PLANT

Damaged Seriously by Fire at the Union Stockyards.

Chicago, July 31.—Fire in the plant of the Thomas J. Lipton company at the Union stockyards caused a loss of $325,000. Only by the hardest kind of work could the firemen confine the fire to the building in which it started. The entire contents of warehouse "B" were destroyed, only the walls of the building remaining. The warehouse was a 4-story structure, 125 feet long and 100 feet wide. It was filled with pickled and cured meats. In the upper story were thousands of strings of sausages and the lower floors were filled with hams, bacon and lard. For a time the entire plant of the Lipton company was threatened.

Cardinal Gotti's Policy.

Rome, July 31.—Cardinal Gotti, the newly appointed prefect of the propaganda, said: "I neither expected nor wished my appointment, but, like a soldier, when my chief commands, I obey." The appointment has produced a favorable impression. It is generally believed that American affairs will be dealt with under Cardinal Gotti with greater equanimity than under his predecessor, Cardinal Ledochowski, who had the reputation of favoring Germans and Poles to the detriment of Irish-Americans.

King Edward's Condition.

London, July 31. — King Edward's progress continues to be in every way satisfactory. During the day he slowly paced the deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert without any assistance, and the exercise is reported to have done him good. The Earl of Denbigh, one of the king's lords in waiting, speaking at a public meeting, said he saw no reason why the king should not be strong enough to undergo the fatigue incident to the coronation on Aug. 9.

USED A COWHIDE

Over the Head and Face of the Minister Whose Remarks were Personal.

Editor of a Religious Publication Asks a Rather Pointed Question Which is Resented by a Dignified Interpreter of Law.

Richmond, Va., July 31.—At Amherst today, Judge Clarence J. Campbell was arraigned for trial on a charge of felonious assault on the Rev. C. W. Crawford, whom he horsewhipped in front of the court house at the June term of his court. The case has attracted wide attention, owing to the prominence of the parties, and the trial will be followed with much interest.

The Rev. Mr. Crawford is editor of the Christian Federation, a paper published in this city in the interest of the anti-saloon movement. Some time ago the editor criticized Judge Campbell for dismissing the case against a man charged with selling liquor in Amherst. Mr. Crawford asked in his paper which was doctored the most, the whiskey or the Judge. Judge Campbell had the minister arraigned for contempt of court but discharged him. Afterward the two men met and Mr. Crawford held out his hand to Judge Campbell. The Judge drew a cowhide and struck the minister several blows about the head and face.

NEGROES

Expect to Have a Very Large Attendance

At the Meeting of the Negro Young Peoples' Congress in Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., July 31.—Rev. J. W. E. Bowen, secretary of the Negro Young People's Christian and Educational Congress, is in receipt of advice indicating an attandance of at least 5,000 visitors at the meeting of the congress to be held here next week. The delegates will come from all sections of the country and will represent all religious denominations and all walks of life. The chief object of the gathering, which is the first of its kind, is to ascertain the true moral intellectual and spiritual condition among the colored people in all parts of the country and to inspire and stimulate aggressive Christian work among the young people and in the homes among the children. Prominent among those interested in the movement are I. Garland Penn, Booker T. Washington, Bishop W. J. Gaines, Bishop B. W. Arnett, Bishop Walters and Bishop Clinton.

OPPOSITION

Against Present Incumbent is Unusually Strong.

Passaic, N. J., July 31.—The Republican congressional convention of the Sixth district is in session here today with a full attendance of delegates from Bergen, Passaic and Sussex, the three counties comprised in the district under the new apportionment. There are several Republican candidates, who are opposed to Congressman James F. Stewart, the present incumbent, notably William M. Johnson, a prominent State Senator and Assistant Postmaster General in McKinley's Cabinet; W. C. Breckinridge, the state committeeman from the district, William Barbour, and Sheffield Phelps, son of the late William Walter Phelps. While the combination against Stewart is strong and there are other elements in the field against him, the indications point to his renomination, though not without a lively contest.

CASTRO'S ARMY

Soon to Meet the Combined Forces of the Revolutionists.

Willemstad, Curacao, July 31.—All eastern ports of Venezuela, including Barcelona, were abandoned by President Castro, all of whose forces and resources are being concentrated near La Victoria, which is three days' distant from Caracas and which is near the mountainous district of Guarico, where the advance guard of revolutionists under General Mendoza appeared some days ago. General Mendoza's forces retreated, however, to join Mato's army, which was in the neighborhood of El Sombrero and advancing by forced marches. Once these two forces effect a junction, it is expected that they will take the offensive against President Castro. The situation of the government is clear, notwithstanding the fact that it is lacking in unity and direction.

PLATT

Says the New York State Will

Stand by Ted

When it Comes to the Next Convention.

A Conference at Sagamore Hill is Followed by Statement

In Which the Man Who Owns New York Republicans Tell What He will Do With Them.

New York, July 31.—Senator Thomas C. Platt of New York, after a conference with President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill, remarked: "President Roosevelt will have a solid delegation from New York state to the next Republican convention." Mr. Roosevelt entertained Mr. Platt at luncheon.

During the two hours' conference which ensued both national and New York state politics were discussed, the discussion quite naturally revolving principally around state affairs. Senator Platt briefly but comprehensively reviewed the political situation in both the national and state fields. He already had declared himself to be a supporter of Mr. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination in 1904, and he expressed the opinion that, barring serious contingencies, the president would be named to succeed himself. Platt assured the president that perfect harmony existed among the leaders and among the rank and file of the Republican party in New York, and that without doubt the entire Republican ticket will be elected this fall. The story that Governor Odell might retire from politics to accept a handsome business offer was referred to, but merely in the form of a denial of its authenticity. Governor Odell has had, it is understood, several offers during the past year or two to go into business in a way particularly advantageous to him, but all have been rejected. He is a candidate for re-election and will be nominated in September, it is confidently stated by Senator Platt.

Work of Iowa Republicans.

Des Moines, July 31.—The Republican state convention named the following ticket: Secretary of state, W. B. Martin; auditor of state, B. F. Carroll; treasurer of state, Gilbert S. Gilbertson; attorney general, C. W. Mullan; judges supreme court, Scott M. Ladd, Charles A. Bishop; clerk supreme court, John C. Crockett; supreme court reporter, W. W. Cornwall. The only controversy was over the tariff and trust utterances of the platform, and that was settled in the committee on resolutions in favor of a reiteration of last year's utterances, with an addition to the trust plank congratulating President Roosevelt on the inauguration of judicial proceedings to enforce anti-trust laws.

Michigan Democrats.

Detroit, July 31.—The Democratic state convention held to nominate a governor and state officers convened in Light Guard armory. There appears to be a lack of competition for the nominations. Several prominent Democrats suggested for the nomination for governor have declared their unwillingness to make the run, among these being D. J. Campau of Detroit, Justin R. Whiting of St. Clair and State Senator James W. Helme of Adrian. Whiting and Helme are still regarded as possibilities.

BOYS IN GRAY

Meet in Kentucky and Talk it All Over Again.

Owensboro, Ky., July 31.—Owensboro is keeping open house in honor of the veterans of the Second Brigade United Confederate Veterans, whose annual reunion began here today. At 10 o'clock this morning, the visitors were escorted to Chautauqua, where the exercises of the day were held. There was an address of welcome by Maj. Haycraft, and a response by Gen. J. B. Briggs, after which all formalities were laid aside and the veterans renewed acquaintances, exchanged reminiscences of war days and listened to informal talks by several speakers of prominence. Tomorrow there will be a parade, followed by the formal dedication of the Chautauqua.

Rogers, of Lima, has been chosen temporary chairman, and C. S. Younger, of Celina, temporary secretary. The basis of representation is one delegate for each 250 votes cast for Nash in 1901, or fraction of 125, this giving Auglaize county, 10, Allen, 20; Darke, 18; Mercer, 6, and Shelby, 10, a total of 64 votes, 33 of which will be necessary to a choice. No one predicts a deadlock in this convention.

Mrs. J. M. Hough, wife of the station agent at Woodward, near Des Moines, Ia., has invented an improvement on the mail crane for fast trains, says the New York World. Mrs. Hough has an observant turn of mind, and she noticed that the crane in use didn't do the work as well as it might. So she set her wits to work and sent a model of her crane to Washington, where it was approved by the postal authorities.

The arrangement will be tried in a few days, and if the trial is satisfactory Mrs. Hough's crane will be used extensively, and in all probability she will make more money in a month than her good husband now gets in a year.

BET PAID IN NOVEL WAY.

Band Played While Loser Rolled Peanut a Mile With a Crowbar.

James Coyle, according to a Philadelphia dispatch to the New York World, paid his wager on the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in a novel manner. Several hundred men and a brass band aided him in discharging his obligations. Coyle bet William H. Smith that Fitzsimmons would win. The loser was to roll a peanut with a crowbar from Penn street and Pulaski avenue to Washington lane and Germantown avenue, one mile.

After staying up all night to learn how the fight resulted Coyle, equipped with crowbar and peanut, assembled himself at the starting point. The crowbar weighed forty pounds, the peanut one-fortieth of an ounce. Coyle wore a hat of straw.

The band played a funeral march as Coyle urged the peanut over the pavement with the point of the crowbar. Every few feet the peanut would roll into a crevice, and delicate manipulation with the crowbar was required to extricate it.

The distance was covered in two hours and a half.

HEBREWS ATTACKED.

Disorderly Demonstrations Attend the Chief Rabbi's Funeral.

New York, July 31.—Disorderly demonstrations marked the progress of the funeral procession escorting the remains of Chief Rabbi Jacob Joseph through the streets of the East Side. The streets were thronged with mourning Hebrews. When the procession was passing the printing press factory of R. Hoe & Company on Grand street, on its way to the cemetery in Brooklyn, the employes of the factory emptied pails of water and hurled missiles from the windows of an upper floor on the spectators massed upon the sidewalk. The Hebrews retailiated by smashing the factory windows. Police charged the rioters and the funeral procession was stampeded, dozens of persons being trampled and bruised in the crush. It was nearly an hour before order was restored. Many arrests were made, and surgeons were kept busy dressing wounds of the injured.

Fear the Marchers.

Mt Carmel, Pa., July 31.—Owing to much lawlessness here, caused by marching crowds assaulting and intimidating nonunion men the burgess issued a proclamation calling on citizens to be law-abiding in order to avoid a riot, which, he says, is liable to result at any time if the present state of turmoil continues much longer. The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company asked Sheriff Deitrick to swear in deputies to guard workmen on their way to and from the collieries. The sheriff refused, claiming conditions did not warrant such action.

CLARENCE H. MACKAY, NEW HEAD OF GREAT ESTATE.

Successor of the Bonanza King Is Familiar With Large Business Operations—Fond of Society and Athletic Sports.

Clarence Hungerford Mackay, only surviving son and principal heir to the great fortune left by the "bonanza king," for a number of years has been prominent in social, financial and sporting circles. Although he is only twenty-eight years of age, he has already developed great business acumen and is regarded as a fitting successor in the world of business to his acute and farseeing father, whose rise from humble miner to a recognized power in the affairs of the world reads like a romantic tale.

The new head of the Mackays was born in San Francisco. While still a child he was taken abroad, and his education was gained in England and France. His sojourn in Europe, however, has in no way affected his loyalty to his native land, and since coming of age he has made his home in this country.

Mr. Mackay has been for years—since his college days, in fact identified with the vast business interests of his father. He is a director in the Commercial Cable and Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph company, of both of which the elder Mackay was president. Mr. Mackay is also vice president of the former and fourth vice president of the latter company, and it is believed that he will succeed his father at the head of these concerns. Of late years the elder Mackay shifted much of the burden of management to the shoulders of his son. The latter has also been connected with other commercial interests and has shown great aptitude for business life.

The social position of the Mackays is of the highest both in America and in England. Much of their prestige is due to Mrs. John W. Mackay and to the high standing of Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, who was before her marriage Miss Katherine, or Kitty, Duer, the descendant of a family prominent in New York society since the days when the British held sway on Manhattan Island. Kitty Duer and Clarence Mackay were married on May 17, 1898, and they have one daughter, to whom, in spite of her pressing social duties, Mrs. Mackay is entirely devoted.

The home of the Mackays is at Harbor Hill, near Roslyn, on Long Island. It is one of the most magnificent country seats in America, more than $1,000,000 having been expended on the house and grounds. The mansion, which is more than 300 feet long and 100 feet wide, stands on an eminence commanding a wide view of the most beautiful portion of Long Island. It is situated in the midst of an estate of 700 acres of park land.

The late millionaire was devoted to his daughter-in-law, and the value of his gifts to her if totaled up would amount to very many thousands of dollars. She is a tall brunette and before her marriage was considered one of the most beautiful and wittiest girls in Gotham society. She has retained all of her charm and is very popular. The Mackays entertain lavishly in their homes in America and England.

Despite his pressing business interests and the demands on him made by society Mr. Mackay has found time to interest himself in sporting matters. He is an amateur athlete and sportsman and has been a champion player at rackets. In recent years he has been greatly attracted to racing and has a fine string of running horses. The Mackay colors—turquoise blue, with black sash and cap—are familiar to all frequenters of American race tracks. Mrs. Mackay is also greatly interested in the "royal sport."

The Mexican Peon.

The Mexican peon can eat more or get along on less than almost any other laborer on earth. In the southern part of the country, where the mountain Indians are at times drafted for work in the lower country, these men bring with them a ball of heavy cornmeal paste, about the size of their heads, slung about their necks with a string. When hungry, they break off a piece of this and mix it up in a cup of water, and upon this single ration they will subsist for an entire week.—Modern Mexico.

CLUTTER & LONG.

Women love a clear, healthy complexion. Pure blood makes it. Burdock Blood Bitters makes pure blood.

IT SOARES PEOPLE

Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond disproof that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Doctor Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better. Then I was directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ASSIGNMENT

Of Hosiery Mills Followed by Report of Misuse of Notes.

Boston, July 31.—With the announcement of the assignment of the Dudley hosiery mills at Newton Upper Falls, came a report in financial circles of the misuse of notes of the Bowker Fertilizer company to the extent of $120,000 by Treasurer Henry F. Coe of the hosiery mills, who also had been treasurer of the Bowker company. The report affecting Mr. Coe's financial administration was confirmed by Frederick Higginson, who succeeded him as treasurer of the Bowker company three weeks ago, he stating that Coe had confessed to the officers of the Bowker company that he had taken the money represented by $120,000 in notes. Mr. Higginson added that it was yet impossible to learn from the company's books the exact sum lost. R. S. Gorham, counsel for the company, said that no action had been taken against Coe, and that he did not know what the future would bring forth. Mr. Coe is between 60 and 70 years of age.

Devery's Treat.

Devery is a candidate for the Democratic leadership of the Ninth assembly district, and the monster outing was a feature of the spectacular campaign he has been conducting. Men were excluded, and the six sailloads of excursionists consisted only of women and children from the Ninth district. It was the biggest excursion ever handled in this city. Devery was personally in charge. Ten physicians, a corps of trained nurses, lifesavers, an opera company, a vaudeville troup and four bands were taken along, and refreshments served in unlimited quantities. The chief commissary of the expedition had 150 assistants.

McKinney For Congress.

Wheeling, July 31. — Hon. Owens McKinney of Marion county was nominated at New Martinsville for congress at the First district Democratic convention. Hon. J. Davis of Marion county was withdrawn. There was a resolution to reaffirm the Kansas City platform, but after debating for a considerable time the resolution was defeated. The resolutions adopted were those heretofore adopted by the Democratic conventions throughout the state.

Courts After Corner In Oats.

Chicago, July 31.—Judge Chytraus issued an injunction against the board of trade firms of Patten Brothers, Carrington, Patten & Company and Bartlett & Company, restraining them from conducting or continuing to conduct a corner in July oats. The writ was issued at the request of Waite, Thoburn & Company, another commission firm, which is "short" to those houses.

Cow on the Tracks.

Seattle, Wash., July 31.—The northbound Canadian Pacific passenger train ran into a cow near Yzler. The engine was overturned and three coaches were derailed. The engineer and fireman sustained serious injury, but the passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. It was several hours before wreckage was cleared.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty, of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles, I was wholly cured." The people of Ohio demand that the legislation when convened in extraordinary session adopt a municipal code which will give to the cities in this state home rule No centralization policy will be tolerated, and should such a measure be imposed upon the people of Ohio it will result in the defeat of the dominant party at the coming election

The Columbus Press in discussing this subject explains in plain language the difference between home rule and state paternalism through official boards appointed by a state official

BY HOME RULE is comprehended the most liberal law consistent with the state and federal constitutions to designate and erect the kind and character of government each city and village shall have for itself in contradistinction to state paternalism through the agency of officials, boards or commissions appointed by any state official or coterie of state officials

"The people of each city or village want public servants to whom the management of local affairs may be entrusted to be directly responsible to them and not to any cabal which may be made accessory to a state political machine or a junta with headquarters in Washington. They do not want to have thrust upon them men who, if the conduct of affairs should be unsatisfactory, would flaunt defiance in their face and say "we are not responsible to you but owe allegiance to the powers at Columbus, or Washington, which selected us to perform these offices

"There is no occasion for confounding the code with minor details Lay down the general principles for municipal organization and let each municipality work out details as its inhabitants see fit This can be done by local conventions for which the code should make specific provision so that there would be no mistaking the plan of procedure necessary to initiate the local government

"It is contended by some that the school laws and election laws come under the ban of special legislation. If so, these matters can be regulated by general statutes The schools are, in fact, a state institution, and there is no reason why the local management thereof for municipalities cannot be provided for by general statutes as well as for the subdistrict schools in the townships. General election laws can also be provided without encumbering the code, because elections must also be provided for in the rural as well as the urban districts and if there are any districts were registration of voters is essential that, also, can be provided for in a general statute.

"There is some debate as to whether the code should include within its scope the questions of municipal ownership and referendum on franchises. Municipal ownership is already provided for by general statutes and unless it is necessary to embody such provisions in the code to give municipalities full control of these local questions why cumber the code with them" BUT IF CITIES AND VILLAGES CANNOT EXERCISE THE RIGHT TO GOVERN ALL SUCH MATTERS WITHOUT BEING SPECIFICALLY AUTHORIZED BY THE CODE TO DO SO THEN THE PRESS INSISTS THAT BOTH THESE VITAL ISSUES SHALL BE INCORPORATED IN THE CODE."

How Outlaw Tracy Came to Dinner.

A B Shruer of Winterset Ia received a letter a few days ago from his father, in the state of Washington, who met in an unconventional way one Harry Tracy, escaped convict from Oregon Shruer senior, according to the New York World, writes that he was out hunting and was just about to eat dinner at his campfire when Tracy suddenly appeared and requested him to throw up his hands Shruer did so Tracy thought he wasn't quite expeditious enough however so he fired his gun and burned the old gentleman's hands with powder Tracy said he was quite hungry and dispensing with formalities helped himself with his fingers Then he absentmindedly took Shruer's six shooter and rifle, watch and money, and said he thought he'd be going and that it looked like rain Shruer did not try to detain him

PHILIPPINE TOPICS.

Trip of an Educational Party Among the Igorrotes.

[illegible] Igorrotes [illegible] or life He has gone to Benguet to help establish [illegible] The cooler climate and clearer atmosphere made open air exercises possible there and a fire at evening necessary The piny woods he writes suggested home while the mountain scenery was varied and beautiful The people were simple frank and honest and possessed a sense of humor not to be observed in members of the Christian tribes Their religion seemed to be very like that of the North American Indian From a schoolboy the writer learned that they believed the sun to be the father of all the moon a good big Igorrote and the stars good little Igorrotes If the Igorrotes are good, the sun smiles and if bad hides its face and weeps They have many feasts and dances In their dances the woman represents the dove and the man the crow

In time the route to Benguet will be by railroad to Dagupan and thence by highway a distance of thirty five miles to Baguio, the capital of Benguet The government is constructing this road but it takes much money time and engineering skill When it is completed Benguet will be the health resort for resident Americans

This educational party went from Manila to San Fernando by boat then by an army ambulance a distance of twelve miles to Naguilian where they took ponies 'When I saw my undersized pony,' writes the narrator, "I felt as if I ought to carry him rather than he me To see me mounted on the little fellow with stirrups so short that my knees were none too far from my face was to suggest vividly the simile of the 'improper fraction' "

On the journey the party met many of the American teachers both in their schools and in their homes They seemed happy and interested in their work Each teacher thought his town the finest, his pupils the brightest and his pony the best Their attitude was generally encouraging At Bangued the capital of Abra province, school conditions are not so favorable The teachers are more isolated, and there is great difficulty in securing mail and supplies from Manila

CURES FOR TOOTHACHE.

Remedies That Do Not Appeal to the Ordinary Man Today.

The man in dental anguish sometimes curses with Burns the venomed stang that shoots his tortured gums alang ' Sometimes on the other hand, he prays St Augustine in his 'Confessions' relates how he once suffered from "dolor dentium " (toothache), apparently in an aggravated form, for he could not speak. Thereupon he wrote on wax a prayer to God for the other brethren to repeat, and as soon as all were on their knees the pain went. 'But what a pain!' he says. "Never since my tender age had I experienced the like." Southey in his Life of John Wesley tells of an eminent preacher that when [illegible] tooth ached he prayed and the pain left him

Unfortunately ordinary men do not seem to have such efficacious faith When the excruciation begins they must bear it philosophically and Shakespeare's authority toothache finds out just the weak place in the philosopher's armor of patience In the middle ages the devout who were racked with pain had a special patroness to whom they could call for deliverance St Apollonia a martyr under the emperor Philip among other cruel indignities had her teeth pulled out In consequence she became toothache's tutelary saint as her emblems—one of which is holding a tooth in pinchers"—sufficiently testify

And there would seem to have been yet another martyr St Blaize who took cognizance of the disease He was honored in the little town of St Blazey, in Cornwall where candles offered upon his altar were supposed to be an infallible cure for toothache Chambers' Journal

When a town gets up something for the general good it isn't fair for you to say "They ought to do it " What is the matter with you helping?

BRINGS GOOD RESULS

The Drill in Allen County is Furnishing Good Wells.

As Usual Richland Township is in the Front Rank Although Monroe and Bath are Also in Line.

Allen county continues to furnish wells of the class that attract more than the ordinary attention, and as has been the case in the past month or two, Richland township is the location of what are usually the best wells. In section 21 the Empire State & Lima Oil Co. got a 50-barreler at No. 3 M. Wenzinger, and a short distance to the eastward, the Ohio Oil Co. has one worth 60 barrels at the start, their No. 6 Joseph Huber, section 24. Wilbur & Herring's test on the Dan Armstrong farm, section 27, is also a good well, its first day's production being about 40 barrels. In the little pool included within the boundaries of section 34, there are a number of new wells making a first-class production, among which are Brorein & Shull's No. 3, M. Chidester, which was estimated as doing 150 barrels the first day, and the Sun Oil company's No. 1, J. M. Lippincott, with an initial output of about 65 barrels.

In German township, the Queen City Oil & Gas company completed No. 7 well on the H. & A. Trempert farm, its production for the first 24 hours having been 25 barrels.

The Whipple & Ackerly Oil company's No. 23, U. M. Shappel, in section 21 of Bath township made 30 barrels at the start, and in section 29, J. B. & H. H. Atkins got a 5 barreler at their No. 9, Adaline Boose.

The western end of the county is also supplying its share of good producers, and taken altogether, the new wells will bring the county's production for the month of July upward to a gratifying total. In Marion township, I. O. Hoover completed his No. 3 well on the Wm. Garet farm, section 2, with an initial output of 70 barrels and in section 1 the Ohio Oil company got a big producer at No. 1, S. Foor, its first day's record having been 100 barrels. All the new wells in the [illegible] of Elida are [illegible] and showing up in [illegible] being the [illegible]. In section 10, Marr Bros. drilled a test on the J. M. Stout farm, and have a well doing 5 barrels [illegible] while in section 11 [illegible] as trustee, drilled No. 6, S. P. Good, and got a producer that put 125 barrels of oil into the tanks in a day. The Ohio Oil company's No. 2 on the Levi Cramer farm, sec. 8, was another of the 60 barrel variety, and in section 1, the Cleveland & Lima Oil company's No. 2, S. Strayer, made 80 barrels the first day.

Two fair producers and a dry hole are the result of late operations in Spencer township, the duster being W. K. Ekhart's test on the Easterdale farm, section 18. Weill & Johnson completed two wells in section 13, their No. 5, A. Etzkorn making 30 barrels, while No. 8, W. H. Sever, recorded a production of about 20 barrels the first day.

"Twas a False Alarm."

The citizens of Galion, Ohio, and in fact everybody apparently within a radius of miles from that place, were considerably excited last week over an alleged oil producer which had been drilled southeast of Galion. Their excitement was short-lived, as the well is declared to be a rank fake, and will do nothing in the way of increasing the Buckeye state's output of the oleaginous fluid.

Southern Indiana Work.

In Delaware county, the Edna Oil company has just completed a splendid producer on the Mary E. Bryan farm, located in section 5, of Delaware township. It was their No. 4 well and during the first 24 hours after shot, produced 100 barrels of oil. In Liberty township of the same county, the Liberty Oil company also has a good producer, their No. 5, F. M. Cannady, section 22, recording an output of 50 barrels the first day.

Four wells have been completed in Monroe township, of Randolph county, two of which were gassers while the other two will make small pumpers. In section 2, the Benton Oil company secured another but the lighter fluid at No. 3, D. H. Grove, and in section 4, the Woodbury Glass company's No. 1, R. B. Meeks, is also a gasser, with an output of 100,000 feet. The latter company got a 5 barrel oil production for No. 2, L. A. Bodkin, section 4, and in section 34, the Ohio & Indiana Oil Company's No. 10, A. M. Moore, started off with a production of 10 barrels the first 24 hours.

Another splendid producer has been added to the long list of good ones in the Blue Creek, Adams county, pool, the newest one being the Ohio Oil company's test on the A. J. Sipe farm. This property is located in section 3, of Blue Creek township, and the original well had a production of 10 barrels the first 24 hours after shot.

The Central Western Oil company also has a good producer in the Adams county field, their No. 5 well on the M. Miller farm, section 36, Monroe township, having a production of 100 barrels as a starter.

Jefferson township also comes to the front with another bunch of good producers, and some that are not up to the standard. In secton 3, near the Finkbone big well, the Ohio Oil company's No. 1, S. Lakeheart, was somewhat of a disappointment, its initial production being only 5 barrels.

The Enterprise Oil company has one of the surprising kind in its No. 1, J. Engle, section 9, starting off with a production of 105 barrels in the first 24 hours.

McKisson & Argue completed two wells which made 50 and 30 barrels respectively the first day, the former being No. 4, H. Fogle section 30, while the latter was No. 2, E. Woodruff, section 29. Tuttle, Weaber & Co. got a 20 barreler at their No. 10, A. G. Kramer, section 3.

A wheel belonging to Charles Tousely was recovered here, after it had been gone for a week. Tousley is in the employ of the Putnam Telephone company as lineman, living in Ottawa, and it was when the wheel was standing in front of Frey's hardware store in that city that it suddenly disappeared. A Goodman boy of this place alleges that he bought the wheel of a man riding it from Ottawa to this place, and he afterwards disposed of the same to Willie Lafferty, who deals in bicycles.

The anti-saloon people of Gilboa, together with the members of the W. C. T. U., have won out in securing the number of signatures for an election under the provisions of the Beal law. An election has been granted and the reform movers feel confident of success. Gilboa has but two saloons, but this number is no barrier to the enthusiasm displayed by the anti-saloon workers. The date of the election has been set for this coming Monday.

Woman's World

MISS LOUISE R. TWYMAN.

She Is a Successful and Gifted Artist in Fresco Painting.

There seems to be no position now that girls do not venture to enter, and men will have to look to their laurels, especially as interior decorators, if many follow in the footsteps of Miss Louise R. Twyman of Chicago, who has in the last few years become one of the most expert and accomplished interior decorators in the Windy City.

This charming girl has been employed by the millionaires of Chicago over the heads of some of the finest men decorators, and such women as Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Horace May, Mrs. Frederick Winston and Mrs. William Bradburn have had her decorate their finest rooms, and all their houses are like palaces.

Ten years ago a woman decorator was a curiosity, and even six years ago, when Miss Twyman, under the tutelage of her father, opened a studio in Chicago, she was considered the pioneer decorator of her sex and was very generally discussed as a probable failure.

But today she is one of the most famous and successful decorators in the west and has more work than she can do. In fact, she has become very much the fashion and as she is a gentle and accomplished girl she is treated as a social equal and made quite a lion of.

She dresses in full trousers, with a blouse, and she climbs up on high ladders and works lying on her back. When she is working in the big Chicago palaces, she is invited to lunch with the families and generally treated as a guest in spite of the fact that she is receiving thousands of dollars for her work. She slips out of her paint bedaubed trousers and gets into some fluffy feminine attire and becomes the accomplished society girl during lunch and then goes back to her ladder and her paint pots.

She is devoted to her work and is really a most gifted artist. Her methods differ from those of fresco painters in general. To her fresco painting is not a trade to be learned by apprenticeship so much as an art full of the soul and appreciation of beauty.

In the Sleeping Rooms.

Let the sun have a chance to do its work in the sleeping rooms. A prejudice in favor of having one's housework done early in the day should not beguile the mistress into having her beds made up before they are thoroughly aired. The care of the beds and bedding bears most directly on the health. In too many households the airing of the beds is not worthy the name. At the convenience of the maid or some member of the family the bedclothes are tossed off the bed and the remaking takes place at once. When the occupant leaves the bed, every article of clothing should be removed piece by piece and placed where the fresh, sunny air from the open window may circulate through the fabric. The mattress should be exposed to light; if two mattresses, the top one should be thrown over so that the bottom one may have a chance to cool and get the light. In chambers having a western exposure the beds should frequently be left unmade until the afternoon in order that the clothing may have the full benefit of the sun. No false notion of tidiness should be allowed to defeat the higher purpose of keeping the home pure and healthful.

Childless Mothers.

The wife who has passed her many years of married life in childless motherhood has lost from out that life a greatness and pleasure that she may not have realized at first, but that is brought home to her with redoubled force and meaning when she has passed the zenith and is coming to understand that life is not perpetual youth.

Keen anxiety and sorrow she may have missed also. Yet it is also true that "it were better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all." The childless mother has not known the depths of degradation to which a child can bring its parents, nor yet has she known the fulfilment of greatest love and trust. Neither has she known the anguish of the sting of death, when her fondest hopes have been laid low. She has escaped great care and responsibility, but she has lost from her life in unalloyed joy more than she has escaped of sorrow.—American Mother.

For the Young Wife.

"Let me whisper a word in your ear, little wife whose husband is beginning to like to spend his evenings elsewhere than at home," says a lady who is a keen student of human nature. "Men like to be made much of. It is a part of their natures. I have seen the strongest intellects come down to the level of a child, seen the little wife of a farfamed physician pet and fondle her big husband as she did her boy, and his proud nature enjoyed the petting and seemed happier for it than for all the honors bestowed on him by the outside world.

"Put up the fancy work or the old stocking you are darning and run your fingers through your husband's hair until the magnetism of your touch has soothed him and he is ready to lean back and listen to you read something he can appreciate in the new magazine. After awhile you can coax him to read to you, and then you can embroider the table scarf or darn the stockings."—New York News.

Starch For Handkerchiefs.

An excellent starch for handkerchiefs is made by placing six drops of bluing in two quarts of water and adding a piece of raw starch the size of a walnut and let it dissolve, being careful that none of it settles to the bottom of the bowl. The handkerchiefs having been washed and dried in the usual way, dip each one separately into the water, moving it about a little to make it thoroughly wet, and squeeze it as nearly dry as possible with the hands. When all have been treated this way, lay them smoothly in a towel. To iron them lay each one flat on the board or table, make a fold two inches deep across the handkerchief, press it in lightly with the iron, and then make another fold across the first. If this is done, each handkerchief will look exactly as it did when purchased.

Cooking Thermometers.

The use of cooking thermometers, which until recently were almost wholly confined to hotels and restaurants, is increasing in private kitchens. Most housekeepers count them nowadays as necessities, and they are to be had at any house furnishing shop. They register a scale of temperature which somewhat exceeds 400 degrees. In addition they indicate at what temperatures different meats should be cooked. Mutton needs the lowest temperature, 300 degrees; beef requires 310 and pork and veal each 320 degrees. Bread and pastry need 400 degrees, but biscuit must have 450; plain cake bakes well at 350 degrees, while sponge cake needs only 300.

Kitchen Door Calls.

A housekeeper writing to an exchange bemoans the fact that so many people insist upon ignoring the front door and making their calls at the kitchen door, just to appear friendly, you know, and adds:

"I usually keep the front part of the house in order but it is almost impossible to keep the kitchen tidy. John seldom puts anything in place after he has used it, and on rainy days he makes a repair shop of the kitchen and just as sure as it is well littered with his tools and dirt some of my callers in. I think sometimes I shall put on a shingle with 'No Admittance. Try the Other Door' on it. I believe it would work well."

Thirsty Babies.

Many babies suffer from thirst, especially when teething. Weather-beaten young mothers say: "I cannot understand what ails the child. He has fussed and fretted all day." And to them we reply: Try giving him a little cold water at frequent intervals. The effect is magical. At this time their gums are sore and swollen, and the cold water or ice allays the inflammation, and baby stops fretting."

To Keep Your Nails Nice.

If the nails are just rounded off with a file every day, they will not need cutting, which really injures them. If at any time you have let them grow so long that you are obliged to cut them, says Home Chat, soak them in warm water for at least five minutes first. This softens and so makes them less liable to crack and split when cut.

Dried Fruits.

The majority of housewives soak their dried fruits too little and cook them too much. Prunes, apricots, etc., are far more delicious if they are allowed to remain in cold water until they have gained their original plumpness and are then brought to a simmer in the liquid in which they are soaked. They will need only fifteen or twenty minutes of cooking.

Sponges.

To clean a dirty sponge put a piece of ordinary washing soda the size of a walnut with a tablespoonful of kitchen salt in a basin and pour on it boiling water. Let the sponge stand in this mixture for some time and then rinse well in cold water, when it will be found to be perfectly clean.

White cotton duck makes the nicest of all bags for soiled linen, as it is substantial and can be easily laundered. If ornamented with blue and red cotton, worked in Russian cross stitch, it can be made ornamental also.

The Women's School of Design of Philadelphia has yearly shown an improvement in the work of its students individually and in the standards of the school.

Sugared tea does not stain; therefore people who like unsweetened tea will do well to put just one lump of sugar in the teapot.

A second quality of mattress is made of pigs' hair, but is neither as durable nor as comfortable as the horsehair.

Save potato parings, for after being dried in the oven they are excellent for fire lighting.

NOTABLE MAN HUNTS

HOW CRIMINALS HAVE BEEN CHASED TO THE ENDS OF EARTH.

Benson, Who Posed as Mme. Patti's Agent, Cheated Justice by Death. Relentless Energy of the Police in Tracking Counterfeiters.

There have been many long pursuits of criminals, great in the distance traveled, the obstacles overcome and the persistence of the pursuing officers, but that of Sergeant Wood of the Natal (South Africa) police is doubtless a record breaker. The man sought by Sergeant Wood was charged with embezzling large sums of money at Pietermaritzburg. He got away from South Africa and went to New York. Although the detective had information as to where his quarry was hiding, yet he had first to visit London to obtain the necessary extradition papers. Then he hurried to America and with the assistance of the United States police ran down his man. By the time he had reached Maritzburg he had been traveling hard for nearly three months and had covered nearly 21,000 miles.

One of the sternest chases of recent years was after Loys Darrell, formerly sergeant in the Seventh United States cavalry. Darrell enlisted at the beginning of the Spanish-American war and distinguished himself at Cuba. There he fell in love with a pretty Spanish girl and beggared himself in buying finery for his sweetheart. To obtain more money he robbed and murdered a companion in arms named Crouch. He then fled.

A detective named Dupuy was put upon the murderer's track and, finding a clew, started for New Orleans. He was right in his surmise that Darrell had gone there, but when he arrived the bird had flown. He had left on a British mule transport for South Africa. Dupuy took train for New York, fast boat for Southampton, rushed by rail across Europe, caught a boat of the German East African line and finally arrived at Beira, in Portuguese East Africa.

There he waited like a spider for a fly, and just as Darrell was fancying himself safe from pursuit he pounced upon him. Later on the detective deposited his prisoner safely in Castle William jail in New York. He had traveled in all 31,000 miles and spent $4,250 in the chase.

One of the most astonishing criminals England ever produced was a man named Benson who began operations in London with two confederates. He organized a series of swindling companies in the city, while he himself pretending to be an invalid, lived in the greatest luxury in the Isle of Wight. He posed as a great philanthropist, was foremost in charitable works and went into the very best society. By dint of bribing certain officers of the law he lived for some years on the proceeds of his swindles. But one day the crash came. He was arrested, sentenced and got a long term in Portsmouth jail.

No sooner was he out than he was at his old tricks again. These culminated in Switzerland, where he managed to gain the affections of the daughter of an English other. Through her he induced her father to trust him with the investment of his entire capital, some $35,000. He bolted with the money. Chased across Europe, a detective caught him at Bremen. To avoid scandal the victim promised not to prosecute if Benson would give up the money. The latter did so and left for America. Hardly was the vessel out of sight before it was discovered that the bundle of scrip the thief had handed over was worth at most $100.

Followed across the Atlantic, Benson escaped to Mexico, where he made £5,000 by passing himself off as Mme. Patti's agent and selling forged concert tickets. By this time his photograph was in almost ever police bureau in the world. Yet he dodged and twisted under a dozen aliases and was heard of in almost every South American state before a clever New York detective ran him down in Rio after a two years' hunt.

Even then he cheated justice. Landed in prison in New York, he walked upstairs, chatting amiably to his jailer. Suddenly he made a spring and jumped clean over the banister. He was picked up with a broken back and died that night.

The police never exhibit more relentless energy than in hunting down a coiner. A coiner's crime is against government, and so the whole forces of the state are against him. The United States suffers far more from coiners than England does and is proportionately keen to run down such offenders. Early in 1900 a man named Hastings was surprised in his workshop, from which he had issued many thousands of small silver coins, but he was too quick for his would be captors and escaped. No fewer than seven secret service men were put on his track. The remarkable fact is that Hastings never attempted to leave the states.

Elifer, one of the detectives, got a hint that a stranger was in the woods. He took a blanket and some food and hid himself in a thicket. Very early in the morning Hastings passed, carrying a bag of food. Elifer tracked him to his refuge and saw that the forger was armed. He waited some distance away in hiding. When night came, Hastings came out with a dark lantern and searched every bush near his hiding place. At last he was satisfied and went back. So soon as Elifer felt sure the man was asleep he crept up and had the handcuffs on him before he could awake. On the way to the jail Hastings told his captor that he had seen him on ten different occasions and had once, in Cincinnati, been within three feet of him in a theater.—Chicago Chronicle.

THE HUMBLE HAIRPIN.

You Thought You Knew Its Many Uses, but There Are Others.

The comprehensive merits of the hairpin are known to all observing men. Its specific value in surgery is asserted by a writer in American Medicine. It seems that a surgeon can do almost anything with a hairpin. He can wire bones with it, probe and close wounds, pin bandages, compress blood vessels, use it "to remove foreign bodies from any natural passage" and "as a curette for scraping away soft material." And no doubt the women doctors can do a great deal more with that most gifted and versatile of human implements. Anthropologists have never done justice to the hairpin. It keeps civilization together. In the hands of girls entirely great it is much mightier than the sword or, for that matter, the plow. What is the plow but a development of the forked stick, and what is the forked stick but a modification of the hairpin? If there was any necessity a woman could scratch the ground successfully with a hairpin now. In fact, there is no work or play in which something may not be accomplished by means of it.

Dullards will tell you that women aren't so inventive as men; don't take out so many patents. They don't have to. With the hairpin all that is do-able can be done. With a hairpin a woman can pick a lock, pull a cork, peel an apple, draw out a nail, beat an egg, see if a joint of meat is done, do up a baby, sharpen a pencil, dig out a sliver, fasten a door, hang up a plate or picture, open a can, take up a carpet, repair a baby carriage, clean a lamp chimney, put up a curtain, rake a grate fire, cut a pie, make a fork, a fishhook, an awl, a gimlet or a chisel, a paper cutter, a clothespin, regulate a range, tinker a sewing machine, stop a leak in the roof, turn over a flapjack, calk a hole in a pair of trousers, stir batter, whip cream, reduce the pressure in the gas meter, keep bills and receipts on file, spread butter, cut patterns, tighten windows, clean a watch, untie a knot, varnish floors, do practical plumbing, reduce the asthma of tobacco pipes, pry shirt studs into buttonholes too small for them, fix a horse's harness, restore damaged mechanical toys, wrestle with refractory beer stoppers, improvise suspenders, shovel beetbons, inspect gas burners, saw cake, jab tramps, produce artificial buttons hooks and eyes, sew, knit and darn, button gloves and shoes, put up awnings, doctor an automobile. In short, she can do what she wants to. She needs no other instrument.

If a woman went into the Robinson Crusoe line, she could build a hut and make her a coat of the skin of a goat by means of the hairpin. She will revolutionize surgery with it in time. Meanwhile the male churgeons are doing the best they can, but it is not to be believed that they have mastered the full mystery of the hairpin.

When Women Were Extravagant.

Such a hue and cry as is raised about the extravagance of the women of our day, and yet at the court of St. James, in a dress of velvet embroidered with gold, which is said to have cost no less than $1,500, Marie de' Medicis had a gown sown with 32,000 pearls and 3,000 diamonds, and her example was followed by lesser personages, who cheerfully expended more than their incomes on gowns so laden with precious stones that their wearers could scarcely move about in them. Mme. de Montespan, the beauty who reigned at the court of Louis XIV, wore at one great court festival "a gown of gold on gold and over that gold frieze stitched with a certain gold which makes the most divine stuff that has ever been imagined," according to the panegyrics written by the pen of Mme. de Sevigne.

Old Times at the Capital.

In recalling the lively and picturesque incidents which the old timers enjoyed in Washington one is moved almost to tears over the commonplace nature of his own times. John Adams used to bathe in the Potomac every morning at daylight because they had no bathtub in the White House, and no one ever pulled a kodak on him. President Taylor used to walk about the town and stop and chat with every one he met, like a policeman. A reception in the White House in these days is relieved of monotony only by the great crush of guests, who trample the clothes off one another's backs. Another president set up in the east room a six hundred pound cheese and invited the multitude to come in and help itself, which the multitude proceeded to do.

Distant Neptune.

The period of man's whole history is not sufficient for an express train to traverse half the distance to Neptune from the earth. Thought wearies and fails in seeking to grasp such distances. It can scarcely comprehend 1,000,000 miles, and here are thousands of them. When we stand on that, the outermost of the planets, the very last sentinel of the outposts of the King, the very sun grows dim and small in the distance.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life, I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians, prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me. For sale by Wm. M. WHITE HOUSE CHANGES

Entire Floor of Second Story to Be Raised.

ANTIQUE FURNITURE PREFERRED

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Use Historic Articles in the Remodeled Mansion. Plate and China Like Those of Former Days—Original Proportions of Famous East Room Will Be Retained.

Work on the White House is progressing satisfactorily. Colonel Bingham, who is supervising the improvements, returned to Washington from Oyster Bay the other day after submitting the latest suggestions for decorations to the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

One feature which has claimed especial attention is lowering the ceiling of the east room, says the New York World. Popular opinion has declared that the original aspect of the famous east room should be preserved, and the president has given his word that vox populi will be respected. Architects were very desirous of making the ceilings of first and second floors correspond, as it would present a more harmonious sight when the grand stairway is carried to the living apartments. Had this plan been followed the stately ceiling of the east room would have been lowered at least six feet, and much of the grace of the apartment would have been lost.

The president has decided that the entire floor of the second story must be raised, since Mrs. Roosevelt has a decided objection to the steps which hitherto have been used in entering the east side of the mansion.

On the second floor the wide corridor will be extended throughout the length of the house, with chambers opening on each side. There will be three arches, the last just where the grand stairway reaches the sleeping rooms. This arch can be covered with drapery to give more privacy to the apartments of the president's family.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt will choose one of the new rooms for their apartment. Naturally they desire their names to be identified with the most important change in the White House since its occupancy—that of removing the offices from the dwelling place of the presidents.

Mrs. Roosevelt has not yet made a ... choice for her best room, but has intimated that the present library will be suitable. It ... the former office of the president and his secretary which will go to history as the "waiting place of the potentates" and will hereafter be the nursery and playroom for the children.

The library will be removed to the large room on the northeast corner, where the clerical force formerly had quarters. The room which the president and Mrs. Roosevelt have used since coming to the White House is the large sunny one on the southwest corner, around which clusters more historic interest than any other in the house. Long ago "Old Hickory" selected it because of the magnificent view of the river had from its windows. Here he hung the picture of his wife and with the free hospitality of those times always insisted on giving this room to his guests, since he considered it the best and most comfortable in the mansion.

President and Mrs. Lincoln used this room and in it little Tad died. It was Nellie Grant's room, and after her departure for England after her marriage it became the guest chamber. Julia Dent Grant, now the Princess Cantacuzene, the first granddaughter of the warrior president, was born in this room. It was Mrs. Cleveland's nursery and served a like purpose during the incumbency of President Harrison, when the McKee babies ruled supreme. Mrs. McKinley occupied the room which is now Miss Alice Roosevelt's, the northwest apartment. It is the only room in the house as then arranged that had a dressing room adjoining, and many times when President Roosevelt had guests little Ethel occupied a cot in this dressing room.

Mrs. Roosevelt has been giving her attention recently to furnishings for the new bedrooms. She will use all the old mahogany which she had stored for lack of space when she came to Washington. Some of this is of great value and dates back to the first mistress of the White House, Abagail Adams.

It is Mrs. Roosevelt's desire to give preference to historic furnishings rather than try new. She is adopting a like policy with silver. Whenever there is a remnant of old plate she is using it as a model for the new service. She has also made inquiries among relatives of former presidents to get designs of forks and spoons they possessed.

When society meets on the lawn next year and again enjoys the open air hospitality of the Roosevelts it will take tea from cups like those Dolly Madison used and have spoons like those treasures Abigail Adams brought with her from Boston.

Filipino Colony For Texas.

Fifteen Filipinos have arrived in Caldwell county, Tex. just south of Austin, and will form the nucleus for a large agricultural colony which will be established there, says the New York Times. They come direct from the Philippines, and when they have made homes for themselves they will send for their families. They propose to introduce a number of Philippine agricultural products which they believe are adapted to Texas soil and climate.

DAY

Passed Without an Accident.

Children's Day

At McBeth's Long to be Remembered.

Police and Committees Had Their Hands Full Handling the Crowds.

Matinee was Given in Auditorium for the Children and One Little Tot Expressed Her Appreciation.

The childrens' picnic is over and the success of the event was as complete throughout as was indicated by the big attendance and fine weather with which it opened at noon yesterday. The children were all well cared for and well fed and notwithstanding the general fears and predictions of accident the day passed without even a single accident of any serious consequence. While the young picnicers were at the park the banks of the lake were continually guarded and boating was suspended and there was no opportunity given for a drowning.

When evening came the police again had their hands full but it was much easier for the officers to manage the crowd at the park than it had been when the children swarmed on the public square and west Market street in the morning. Chief Mills and officers Grant and Billstein stationed themselves at the gates at the railway and as fast as the cars arrived to take the picnicers back to the city enough people were allowed to pass through the gates to lead them. All of the children, except those able to take care of themselves or those who were accompanied by their parents were back in the city by 6 o'clock.

Little Tot Was Thankful.

During the afternoon a matinee performance was given in the park auditorium by the performers who are on the bills for this week and as the auditorium seats were free to the children manager Maxwell requested the older ones to make room for them. The request was willingly complied with and the theatre was soon a perfect set of happy young faces. The little picnicers enjoyed the performance hugely and after the curtain had fallen at the finish of the last number Manager Maxwell heard the voice of a little girl, who was somewhere in the big crowd, calling him. He worked his way through the crowd to the little tot and inquired what she wanted, whereupon she modestly replied: "I want to go to tank the folks for us." Manager Maxwell took her in his arms and carried her to the dressing rooms at the rear of the stage, where she personally thanked the performers for the entertainment they had given the children. It was an impressive incident and one that repaid both Manager Maxwell and the performers for the many extra cares of the day. The little lady gave her name as Opal Clark, aged ten years.

A wheelman's tool bag isn't complete without a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Heals cuts, bruises, stings, sprains. Monarch over pain.

TOLEDO

Also Mourns Death of Rev. Leatherman.

Formerly Pastor of the Monroe Street Church

Widow of the Drowned Minister was a Daughter of the Rev. Reuben Rauch, of Van Wert.

The shocking intelligence comes to Toledo through the Associated Press that Rev. W. H. Leatherman, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at DeGraff, was drowned yesterday while trying to save earl Needham, aged 13, who went down with him. It appears that Mr. Leatherman and about thirty boys of his Sunday school were on a picnic at a nearby resort. The boy went swimming and was seized with cramps, and the pastor tried to save him.

Rev. Mr. Leatherman was for two years pastor of Monroe Street M. E. church, of this city. He was a man of engaging manners and was looked upon as one of the rising clergymen of the Methodist church. It was during his pastorate that the Monroe street church made large gains in membership and paved the way for extended improvements that were subsequently made on the church building. Mr. Leatherman was also prominent in state Christian Endeavor and Sunday school work. He was a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. He was 35 years of age, and leaves a widow and two children, the widow being a daughter of Rev. Reuben Rauch, of Van Wert.—Toledo Blade.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

A physical culture craze has spread all over the country. Many women who have time are taking it up. Some cannot do it because their household duties keep them busy all day. These would have more time to themselves if they would use Easy Task Soap, a pure white laundry soap which will clean clothes perfectly without boiling. It costs only 5 cents a bar at all grocers.

Let's go to Feltz's and see their bargains in wash goods. Prices have been reduced.

RIVAL TEAMS

Will Settle the Championship at Delphos.

Arrangements have been made for a match game of base ball to be played at Delphos, Wednesday, August 6, between the Celina and Paulding teams, the winning side to get $200. There has been considerable rivalry between the two clubs and being pretty evenly matched there will no doubt be a big crowd from both towns to see the settlement of the argument.

Rev. Thomas will preach at the Jefferson street Union Mission tomorrow. All are cordially welcome.

A Broken Bolt

Sent Nine Cars Into an Awful Jam,

But the Engine Got Over Before the Crash and no One was Hurt.

Accident Occurred Near High Street Crossing and the Wreck Resembled Mammoth Heap of Jack Straws.

South bound freight No. 97 figured in a bad wreck about 6 o'clock this morning just before reaching the High street crossing. The train was made up here and engineer Latham and fireman Peters had her going at full speed down the grade when the sudden and unexpected crash came. In a twinkling of an eye eight cars, most of them loaded with lumber, left the rails and climbed over each other, grinding and splintering until the jam stopped the momentum. As luck would have it the engine and two cars had crossed the switch and escaped the wreck, and there was no one in position to be injured in the awful mix up.

As for the cars, at least five of them are fit for nothing but kindling wood. Sides, ends and top gave way as they jammed into each other and the lumber with which they were loaded, helped to enlarge the damage as the boards shot through the dried timbers of the car with the force of battering rams.

The wreck crew was called out and with the assistance of section crews and every man available about the shops, work was begun in clearing away the wreckage. Had it occurred outside the city, a torch would have been applied and short work made of the job, but the location put that thought out of mind and it will take the entire day, if not longer to pile up the lumber and strip the useless cars of what is valuable in their reconstruction.

The accident is due to no ones carelessness, as it was caused by the breaking of a switch bolt after the engine and two cars had passed over it in safety. The rails were twisted and bent and some idea of the force is noted by the plunge of the last car into the ground deep enough to bury the wheels.

Merely a Suggestion.

The August number of the C. H. & D. magazine is being distributed. A new and novel love story has the choice position and the rest of its pages are made up of carefully chosen selections in prose and verse. The editor of the magazine has evidently run out of officials deserving of half-tone prominence, but wouldn't the boys who do the work, like to read an occasional biographical sketch of the old veterans who take orders instead of giving them.

Crowded Cars.

Passenger train No. 1 was a half hour late this morning, owing to an excursion to Dayton. It pulled in with eleven coaches, everyone of which had people standing in the aisles from Columbus Grove, where the excursion had been arranged. At Lima a new coach, which was just turned out of the shops yesterday, was attached, and its gilt and varnish was a marked contrast when buckled on to the smoked begrimed coaches of the main train.

General Notes.

One of the finest excursions that has ever passed through Lima will be carried by the C. H. & D. next Saturday to Niagara Falls. There will be twenty parlor cars made up into three divisions.

Assistant Foreman John T. Leach, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, went to Lima, Ohio, this morning to look after some affairs for the department.—Ft. Wayne Sentinel.

AFFIDAVIT

In the Robinson Case Was at Fault.

Case Against Mrs. Robinson Was Dismissed.

New Affidavit was Filed and Demand was Made for Jury Trial Which is Set for Next Monday Morning.

The case in mayor's court against Mrs. Sarah Robinson, of north Main street, charged with keeping a saloon open on Sunday, came up this morning and was dismissed on motion made by the defendant's counsel, attorney H. P. Williamson. The affidavit was filed against Mrs. Robinson when, in fact, her husband, William Robinson, is proprietor of the place of business referred to.

The case was dismissed and a new affidavit was prepared by the mayor charging Mr. Robinson with keeping his place open on Sunday.

The attorney made a demand for a jury trial and the case was set for next Monday.

Mr. Robinson states that his place was not open on Sunday and that the only disorder that can be complained of in the vicinity is in a place near by that is occupied by women and visited by men but is never disturbed by the police. Mr. Robinson says he has been in his present place of business for five years and has never had to call an officer or had any trouble that necessitated the services of the police. Other people wonder why it is that the police have to go so far from their headquarters to look for a violation of either state laws or city ordinances.

FUGITIVE

Who was Wanted in Ottawa Was Captured Here.

Detectives Patton and Fenstemaker Takes a Stranger Off of the Top of a C. H. & D. Train.

Late yesterday afternoon the local police received a message from Ottawa requesting them to look out for and arrest a man who was wanted in Ottawa, for making a vicious assault on a citizen of the Putnam county town. A detailed description was forwarded, and Detectives Patton and Fenstermaker were detailed on the case. The two officers went to the C. H. & D. yards and shortly before 6 o'clock spied their man on board a car on a through freight, which was pulling into the yards. Both boarded the car, and the fellow seeing he was caught, surrendered to Fenstermaker. He registered as John Clohosey. He is wanted for striking a man with a brick, the victim now being in a precarious condition.

TAILORS'

Strike Seems to be Nearing an Adjustment.

The strike of the Journeymen Tailors, which was inaugurated in this city a few months ago, seems to be nearing an adjustment that will be generally satisfactory, not only to the strikers but to the employers, as well. Yesterday afternoon a compromise was effected between E. Gale one of the leading merchant tailors, and the members of the union. The strikers wage scale was modified in its clauses pertaining to the classification of goods and the adjustment made is perfect satisfactory to the strikers and also to the Mr. Gale whose establishment will hereafter be run as a union shop. The differences between the strikers and other employers are said to be far nearer an adjustment than they have been at any previous time since the strike began and it is confidently believed that the tailors' strike will be soon nothing but an event of local history.
